

Regarding possible change in policy to allow local low power FM broadcasts that would over-ride translators of regional stations. My understanding is that this change would allow small local stations to essentially cover the signals of K-Love radio. This station is a significant, family friendly, non-commercial station. There are few options on radio where, as a parent of 2 children, I can tune the radio without concern for either adult content, questionable lyrics, or even "less than suitable" commercials. K-LOVE brings to the Phoenix metro area a clear choice to avoid the commercial hype - by choosing a station that is supported solely by listeners directly, rather than having to bend to sentiment of potential advertisers. Any change in rules that would allow the K-LOVE signal to be blocked would take away this choice, and eliminate one of the most significant positive influences available to parents. Please carefully consider not allowing any deliberate blocking of K-LOVE translator signal in any location.

Best Regards,

Paul Mescher